Small Enough To Care
Large Enough To Compete

Inside this issue:

Where we came from.....

Title I is the largest program of federal funding in education, signed into law in 1965 by President Lyndon Johnson. President Johnson recognized the extremely difficult problem that children throughout the country were having with their reading and mathematics. In an effort to help them catch up, extra attention, materials and teachers were provided by the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title I (ESEA).

Where we are.....

The Title I law requires the meaningful involvement of parents in school level planning, development and design of initiatives to improve student achievement, staff development and parental involvement. This opportunity exists for all Mason County Central Parents within their child's building(s) to be part of a school improvement team which meets through out the entire school year planning and annualizing data for what is best for our children at Mason County Central schools at each building level. All public schools receiving Title I funds are district schools like ours that operate as school wide programs. Title I funds are used to enhance regular district instructional programs. At Mason County Central funds are used for supporting parent and community involvement, para professionals/educational assistants to enhance core academic areas within all buildings, high school on line credit recovery, student success specialists all building levels, technology , teacher and staff professional development, MTSS (Multi Tiered Systems of Support), Curriculum Enhancement Materials, Reading Totes Program, Think Through Math On Line Math Program to just name a few.

What is Title I?

Title I, Part A of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) provides financial assistance to states and school districts to meet the needs of educationally at-risk students. The goal of Title I is to provide extra instructional services and activities which support students identified as failing or most at risk of failing state's challenging performance standards in core academic areas.

What will Title I do for my student?

The Title I program will provide your student with extra educational assistance within and beyond in collaboration with your student's classroom teacher.

How does our school receive Title I money?

First, the federal government provides to each state a set amount of money. Then, each State Education Agency (MDE Michigan Department of Education) sends money to its school districts. How much each school district within the state receives is determined by the number of low-income students attending that school district and an application process with detailed use of the funds.

Who receives Title I funded services?

We identify the students at our individual buildings who need the most educational assistance based on the criteria and or assessments the building has chosen. Students do NOT have to be low-income families to receive Title I services.

We set goals for improving the skills of educationally disadvantaged students at our buildings.

We measure student progress to determine the success of the Title I program for each student.

We develop programs for each individual student in order to support / supplement regular classroom instruction.

What Title I programs generally offer....

Smaller classes or special instructional spaces.

Additional teachers or para professionals/educational assistants.

Opportunities for professional development for school staff.

Extra time for teaching Title I students the skills they need.

A variety of supplementary teaching materials.

MTSS (Multi Tiered Systems of Support) / RTI (Response to Intervention) .

Parent and Community involvement opportunities relating to behavior and academic success.

What can I do as a parent?

Parents, you can influence the success of your student in school more than any teacher or federal program. By becoming an active participant in the school improvement plan at your student's school building, you will:

Serve as a role model, showing your student that you support his / her education.

Assure that you are aware of your student's educational progress; thereby demonstrating how important that progress is to you.

Teach your student that your input at school is appreciated and that you support its efforts.

Research shows that how well students do in school depends a great deal upon how much their parents get involved in their education. You can become more involved by:

Joining local parent organizations such as your child's PTC (Parent Teacher Committee). If your child's building doesn't have a PTC how can you help start one.....

Support school extra curricular activities.

Volunteering at the school.

Attending parent teacher conferences.

Communicating with your student's teacher regularly.
